The historical data used to calculate the synthetic indicator is not a reliable indication of the future risk profile.

The risk and reward category shown may be subject to change and may be amended over time.

Even a fund in category 1 is not completely risk-free.

The Lupus alpha Sustainable Smaller Euro Champions C fund is classified in category 6 because its unit price typically fluctuates strongly and therefore both risks of loss and chances of gains can be correspondingly high.

The following risks have no direct impact on this categorisation, but may still be significant:

Default risk: If counterparties fail to meet contractual payment obligations or meet them only in part, the sub-fund may incur losses as a result. Even with a careful selection of the securities it cannot be excluded that losses occur due to the deterioration of assets of issuers.

Concentration risk: By concentrating its assets on a few markets or assets, the sub-fund is particularly dependent on these few markets/assets.

Liquidity risk: If securities are traded in a rather narrow market segment, selling these assets may be problematic in situations of insufficient liquidity.

Risks in connection with derivatives transactions: Derivative transactions for hedging purposes reduce the sub-fund's overall risk, but may reduce opportunities for returns. If transactions are conducted with derivatives as part of the investment strategy, the risk of loss for the sub-fund may increase as a result, at least temporarily.

Operational risk and custody risk: The sub-fund may be the victim of fraud or other criminal actions. It may also incur losses due to misunderstandings or errors by employees of the management company or a custodian or outside third parties. Finally, external events, such as fires, natural disasters and the like, may have an adverse effect on its management or the custody of its assets.

For a detailed description of the risks, please refer to the "Sub-fund risk profile" section of the prospectus.
